

Hint

Multiplication and division are related. When you multiply two numbers and get an answer, you can divide that answer by one of the numbers and get the other number.