

Hint

Divide one number line into thirds and another number line into sixths. Place one below the other and mark the specified fractions. Do the same thing using fraction strips.

How can $\frac{1}{3}$ be equivalent to $\frac{2}{6}$?

How can $\frac{1}{3}$ NOT be equivalent to $\frac{2}{6}$?