

Adjacent angles are two angles that share the same vertex and one common side but do not overlap.