

A line of symmetry is the line dividing an image into two congruent parts that are mirror images of each other.