

Hint

The opposite number will have the opposite value. The absolute value will always be the distance from 0 on a number line.