

Hint

- First determine if you need to find the lateral surface area or the total surface area.
- Identify the type of figure given as the figure will determine which formula will be needed.