

A trend line is a line of best fit for linear data. It is the line that represents the mathematical model for the data. In the example shown below, the blue line represents the trend line.

